

God, the Earth, the Sky & You

Nothing out here, but God, the Earth, the Sky and You
No reason to be,
but to be a gulf
between you and me
No reason for God, but to make me face my mortality No reason for the Sky, but to diminish me
And this empty table does not acknowledge me A lonely eagle, my only witness, defies the Earth kisses you, holds the Sky, pleases God Knows that I'm not up to the journey, waits for me to fail What is there for me
but God, the Earth, the Sky and You endless, meaningless miles hypnotize me, falling stars beyond my reach Nowhere to go, I am here and want to, but God calls me Sheltered by a mountain in a sea of sand surely it will erase me, but what choice have I, but to seek
God, the Earth, the Sky and You
